From this point to the finish the game practically revolved round a duel of tactics, the South Sydney players not being able to get any more than a few short touch points and South Sydney bent on frustrating them. In the end the latter prevailed, the final scores being: South Sydney, 9 points; University, 2.

Serges that Lead for Value.

Serge is the most useful of all materials, and it is serge that is the most practical and fashionable. For years serge has been sold by the million yards, and we have shared in the selling. Customers who know our serge qualities buy again and again, because of the values they get. We are not afraid to say our serge values, their respective prices considered, are unsurpassed. They are the very best qualities and makes, and in a tremendous assortment, from the rough surfaces to the smooth, fine finishes in Black and Navy Serges—all greatly used this winter. Our serges are bought direct from the manufacturer. That is why we are able to offer them at surprisingly low prices. They are of pure wool, with that firm texture of the best weaves which ensures their shape-retaining qualities. The dyes are of the best, being fast dye and indigo dye, that will not fade in wash or by the sun. Their substantial weight, their strength, and fine finish, the way they wear and wash and feel, are all distinctive good points—but comparison is the only way to judge. We want you, then, to judge our serges by comparison. Go to the different houses in town and see their selections; but, before buying, see ours. There are hundreds of different grades and qualities, and the David Jones' Serges have double the wear in them that others have at the same prices.

LITTLE need be said in praise of the beautiful Suite illustrated above. Its perfect simplicity and solid construction in Oak are features that speak for themselves. It would be a difficult matter to find, at the price, anything more charming and refined in design, or more enduring and substantial in those wearing qualities which are so looked-for in high-class furniture. THE "COOMA"
Bedroom Suite in Solid Oak,
Price Complete - £22 10s.

FEW will deny that we are influenced in greater or less degree by our surroundings, and it is because this is true that the influence of the Arts stands for true beauty. Pictures, Statuary, Books, Furniture all help, if they are good of their kind, to give an atmosphere of refinement to the home. And this atmosphere is in itself an education which all homes, no matter how poor, should give their sons and daughters.

Some will say—"Yes, but the cost of such things is not for the poor!"—It is obvious, however, that taking one item only—that of Furniture—when you can buy a perfectly beautiful Oak Suite, such as we illustrate above, for such a price as £21/10/-, and consider that it will last a life-time, there are a very large number of people with small incomes who could afford to buy.

The simplicity of The "COOMA" SUITE, with its beautiful form and proportion, will turn a small bedroom into a place of charm, refinement, and repose; its influence on the mind will be for good—a standing protest against vulgarity, extravagance, and ostentation. We should like to show you this Suite, in one of our fitted rooms, in natural surroundings, you would then be able better to appreciate the truth and sincerity of the design.

OUR NEW "Simple Cottage Furniture," with illustrations in colours, embraces the furniture we supply for a cottage of four or five rooms for £150, £200, and £300 respectively. This booklet should be of interest to all who are about to furnish, and we shall have much pleasure in forwarding a copy on receipt of your name and address.

OUR NEW GENERAL CATALOGUE

has also just been published, and we are anxious that you should possess one. A postcard will be sufficient to give us your name and address, and we will forward this valuable book gratis and post paid, without delay.

AMERICAN.

CIRCUS OWNERS' LUCK

ONE MAN GETS A MILLION.

The Wirth family, some of whom belong to the Circus proprietors of that name, have inherited a huge fortune of 20 million dollars—$4,000,000—left by an unmarried uncle, who died recently in Chicago, where he made his pile.

About the year 1840 five brothers left Germany to seek their fortune, abroad. Four of them came to Australia, and one, Gaspare Wirth, went to America, at once entering the butchering business. He succeeded amazingly in it, and by the fact that he left such a huge fortune to be divided amongst the next of kin, he having no family of his own. The other four brothers, who their share of the money goes to the children who are nephews and nieces of the deceased. The son of one of these, Mr. George Wirth, who is now engaged at the Fred Leif Hill agency establishment in Sydney, will inherit the whole of his father's share, £1,000,000, as he is the sole surviving child. But in the case of the other three families their shares will be divided amongst the children. Mr. Jacob Wirth, who is at Charters Towers, the family of the late Mr. George Wirth, the father of the circus proprietors, the late Mr. George Wirth, Mr. Christie, of Melbourne, Mr. Martin, of America, and Mrs. Kane, Wages, and they will divide a million between them.

Referring to their fortune last night, Mr. Philip Wirth said he would all natural consin, who bore the same Christian name as himself, would, he said, get the biggest and best of the two. He would, he said, add, to attract the attention of the present proprietary through the windfall, he gave the suggestion an emphatic negative. "On the other hand," he said, "we will devote some of our money to the purchase of the premises. We hold a lease for 21 years of the present old market building near the railway station, and a good deal of the money we spent there, to a noble praiseworthy purpose. We hope, You know, I love Sydney and Australia, and I have a great desire to set up a hippodrome here equal to the finest in the world, taking the London Hippodrome as a model. We hope to stage big equestrian drama there, and as soon as any doubt about our good luck is set at rest we will be able to show connection with the unregenerated title."

"I've been at the circus some since, for I was able to throw a leg over a horse, for my father started as a small boy in the circus in Victoria, when I was born, as far back as 1858. So I am wedded to the game you see. Besides, why should we give up? We are Australians, who love our native country, and we believe it is the duty of the world for the advancement of capital to Sydney, too, as a city has no peer for the future, and we have every confidence that the show business will give us a good return for any capital we might put into it."

to make up for the disappointment in not receiving that amount from the bogus philanthropist. Mr. Wirth replied that when he received the expected inheritance he would remember the need of the Wagon hospital.

A FACTORY TRAGEDY

REVOLVER SHOTS.

MAN KILLED AND WOMAN WOUNDED

A sensational occurrence took place in the paper and boxmaking factory of Messrs. Fuen and Nall, opposite the Central Railway Station at the corner of Reservoir and Mary streets.

and woman, employees of the firm, held severely wounded. The man died later at Sydney Hospital.

The victim was Miss Lily Glover, 25 years, of Gray's-road, Mortlake, and Charles Parkhill, of Gamba, Annandale-street, Annandale. Both were employed Messrs. Puerrh and Nall for many years. She was recognised as the employee of the firm for the longest time, having been employed for 10 years past, and latterly, when he was under-estimated had been engaged.

Miss Glover worked as a machinist, and took up her position on her machine as usual at 5.30 on Saturday morning. She was working on the building. Parkhill was employed in the bormaking department, but, as he was familiar with other branches of the factory work, had run the building. Consequently, he noticed the accident at a time when he visited the factory.

THEY WERE IN THE second floor

The man appeared to be on business, a woman in a dress and hat, and a Miss Glover's machinist. There was nothing to show he was unusual, but before any of the other employees realized that trouble was to occur Parkhill was laid, fired a revolver. The woman screamed, and the man fell to the floor in an unconscious state. The weapon had been discharged so close to her head that her hair was badly singed.

The startled employees had no time to run before they fired a shot, which entered the unconscious girl. The Civil Ambulance and the police were immediately telephoned for, and the factory was closed for the week-end. Both Miss Glover and Parkhill were taken to the St. Vincent Hospital. Miss Glover is in a very critical condition, and Parkhill's condition is not so good. He was taken to the hospital last evening after an operation for a fractured skull. Little hope is held out for Miss Glover.

Senior-constable Meadhead, who is in charge of the district constabulary, has been elicited that the engagement which existed between the young man and woman was broken off about a week ago. Packhill, who was arrested after the shooting, refused to answer any questions asked him by the police.

MAORI TEAM.

COMING TO SYDNEY.
POWERFUL COMINATION.

The New South Wales Maori team has received from Mr. W. T. Parata, organizer of the tour of the Maori Rugby Union team of Australia, early in June, the full list of players who will make the trip. It is a formidable combination, and as a week's practice will be included in its routine before sailing, and a three days' rest will be allowed the side in Sydney before they will play their first game on June 5, the team should thoroughly test the New South Wales representative side on that date.

Captain of the famous "All Black" forward, Mr. Cunningham, who has represented New Zealand on numerous occasions, and who led the Auckland province last year in their successful defence of the title of champions and holders of the Ranfurly Shield, the side should not suffer from the want of leadership. With Cunningham as captain, Hail, Sellers, and Trezise, who were members of that combination, the team included no fewer than 10 players who have represented their island in the most recent annual game between north and south; and 22 of the 24 men selected have been honoured with places in their previous representative teams. The other two are Phil, who will be remembered as the Maori player who scored the first try in the famous 1905 match, and Nuku, who visited Sydney in 1904, with the New Zealand Universities, and who is said to be the trickiest five-eighth in the Dominion to-day.

Two members of the last Maori team are included in this one, and another player whom Sydney football supporters are familiar with is H. Grace, who was the best player in the New Zealand Universities of 1905.

Mr. W. T. Parata, one of the best of the best of the amateur game in New Zealand, will manage the team, the members of which are travelling absolutely at their own expense and risk. It is a formidable combination to show the capabilities of the Maori race, and Mr. Parata has gathered his team from all parts of the Dominion in order to secure the maximum strength. The popularity of this Maori combination will be in evidence in the first match, which will be played in the city of Sydney.

Following is the personnel of the team—BACKS.

R. M. Piki was a member of the 1910 Maori team and played as half-back with the T. A. C. team. He is a member of the New Zealand Universities' team of 1908. He is a brilliant player, either as a five-eighth or three-quarter.

W. G. G. is a very promising back, and a representative Auckland Province and Auckland University player.

MOUNT LYELL.

DOMINION COMMISSIONERS VISIT.
MR. LORIMER IMPRESSED.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

QUEENSTOWN, Sunday.
Mr. Fisher was not the only distinguished visitor to the north-west of Tasmania, this week-end. Whilst some of the other members of the Dominion Commission were journeying to Launceston and Hobart, Mr. W. Lorimer commenced a visit to the mineral areas of the West Coast of Tasmania. Mr. Fisher, who is a well-known geologist, and who has been in the district in every township in the district where his name is a household word. South Australia has, however, gained what "Fisher" has lost. Mr. Lorimer arrived at Burala on Saturday morning, and was received by Mr. Stirling, the manager of the Burala railway. At Burala he was welcomed by the manager, Mr. Fisher, and the superintendent of the Mount Lyell Company's mines, in the absence of Mr. Sticht, the general manager, who is transferring his headquarters to Melbourne.

One of the most important sections of the work of the Dominion Commission requires them to inquire and report upon the natural resources of the self-governing dominions, and to report upon the development of such resources, whether attained or attainable. Indeed, these matters are first mentioned in their reference. Upon Mr. Lorimer's visit to the West Coast of Tasmania, he was accompanied by Mr. Stirling, the manager of the Burala railway, and by Mr. Fisher, the geologist.

CANADIAN VISITOR'S VIEWS.
CANADA'S UNIQUE INDUSTRY.

A passenger by the Marano on Saturday on a brief holiday visit to Australia was the Rev. Dr. Mackay, principal of the Westminster Theological Hall, at Vancouver, British Columbia, who is on his way to Melbourne.

"We hear a lot of talk about Australia, and I thought I would come and have a look at this wonderful country of yours myself," he remarked, smiling, when a pressman asked him whether he was a pro- or anti-White Australia man.

"We have a great many things in common with you, and we are all of us, I think, of the same race," he said, "and we know you have the same for us. We have a great many things in common with you, and we are all of us, I think, of the same race."
